SPARKLING TEA

The Dorchester breakfast blend

Malt, honey, raisin

Both teas in this blend have been sourced from Assam's finest gardens during the prime, second flush, summer season. A highly selective process means we taste hundreds of samples and hand select only a few production batches each year from the region.

The subtropical environment and sprawling, low lying tea gardens, along with masterful processing produces black teas with a renowned depth of flavour. The Assam Breakfast provides a rich and robust intensity completed with top notes of honey and malt from the delicate tea buds of Assam Gold.

The Dorchester afternoon blend

Malt, honey, grape

This blend brings together India's two most celebrated origins; Assam, where the low-lying plains are home to rich and malty black teas and Darjeeling, the high mountain 'champagne' of tea and one of only a few tea regions recognised with a protected geographical indication.

We hand select the best batches of second flush teas from the finest gardens among these origins to create this blend. Starting with our Assam Breakfast, a rich and robust black tea with strong malty notes, we then add a dash of Darjeeling second flush for supremely aromatic and lightly fruity top notes.

*organic cherrywood
Lapsang*

Smoke, incense, malt

This reinvention of Lapsang Souchong is an organic Chinese black tea that is smoked over cherrywood in the UK. Inspired by traditional lapsang from the Wuyi Mountains, China, we've combined the natural smokey notes and richness of Yunnan black tea with sweetly aromatic smoke from cherrywood to create an exquisitely smooth lapsang experience.
